Multi-talented Superstar!

How my life is in Quarantine!

The half term break has been no break at all although it was very fun! I started off my break by preparing to be an interviewer for an Easter play (that I'm a disciple for) called crucifixion that is all about Jesus's death. I interviewed the person playing Mary Judas and Jesus and that was very exciting (I love acting and want to be an actress when I grow up). Then it was Easter and I had lots of chocolate 😊. Next my dad recorded me in our studio reading the story that I made because I love reading and writing books. He's still working on effects (he's great with everything especially tec and saxophone) to put on the sound but it's sounding great-can't wait to hear the finished product. Thirdly it was my BDAY! and I turned 11 years old and although we are in quarantine my parents still managed to create an amazing virtual party with all my friends celebrating with me and obviously I got some amazing presents and still have one more amazing one to come shh don't tell my sister it's for her bday too 😊😊 and it's her 13th . What I can't wait for the most though is to see all my spectacular friends -and of course u Mr Wanless and Mrs lunness again (at least all of them have phones)and no matter what l'm going to make sure that happens. Last but not least I hope you are all well and make sure you have a lot of fun at home even though quarantines here make the best of it.
