

Spelling, Punctuation and Grammar

1. Circle the correct spellings to complete the sentences below.

Abdi's son was on work experiance/experience at a security company. They were in a court watching Ian Howden being sentanced/sentenced. Howden's wife was convinced that he was innocant/innocent and was shouting but the judge was not very tolerant/tolerent of her behaviour.

2. Rewrite the sentences so that they are written in the passive voice.

Active	Passive
The judge sentenced Howden to twenty years in prison.
Howden vaulted over the witness box wall.
Two meaty guards cuffed Howden.

3. Join these pairs of sentences with a relative pronoun (who, whom, where, when, which, whose).

a) Howden was a criminal. He had robbed three banks.

_____

b) Howden's wife shouted. She heard the judge issue his sentence.

_____

c) Grants is a security company. It transports prisoners around the country.

_____

4. In the morning Majid had made tea, photocopied documents and answered the phones - mundane, unchallenging tasks, and certainly not the high drama he'd hoped for, the sort of adventures he followed in the spy stories and thrillers he read.

Look at the sentence above. Why has the author used a dash?

5. Complete the table below.

Adverbials of time	Adverbials of place
a moment later	just behind