

Sarayah Lee

Diary Entry

June 17, 20XX

It was another normal day, as I thought. I was Playing my game waiting for my mum to come home as usual but she came home and gave me a strange box. I paid no attention to it until mum said to open it . I was confused. I didn't get many presents yet I was intrigued to see what was inside and I opened it.

It was the best present ever! A dog. He was so cool so I took him out the box wanting to play with him but I noticed one of his legs were missing and it turned out to be the worst present ever. I threw the dog on the floor and carried on my game but he wouldn't stop bugging me. He wanted to play ball so I kicked the ball and he got stuck under a box which was really funny then I went back to my game again.

He brought over the ball and I couldn't say I knew that adorable face so I gave in and went outside with him.

Tap on the website below to visit my inspiration

Read more on our website

