

Friday 8th January 2021

LO: can I identify where I belong?

Look at this image:

What questions do you have about this image?

Look at these images, do you know where these people belong/what communities they are apart of?

What religion does this person belong to?

This person's religion is Sikhism - some people who are Sikh can be identified as so by their clothing or the symbols they wear.

This man is also part of the Sikh religion. What makes him different from the pervious man we just looked at?

Not all Sikhs choose to have uncut hair or wear a turban, but that doesn't mean they don't follow the religion. We can't always assume someones religion based on what they wear.

Can you give any other examples of looking different to what you would expect?

E.g. policemen don't always wear a uniform. You can have plain clothed police.

Task:

Think about yourself and where you belong.

List the groups/religions you belong to.

Would we be able to assume you belong to these groups by what you wear? Why/Why not?